LAW 573 Quilts, Arts, Crafts Entrepreneurship Law
Crosslisted with: LAW 573G
Description: This course will introduce you to trademark, copyright, and entrepreneurship (including social media) for entrepreneurs in general, and also more specifically those engaged in quilting, crafts, art and small hustles, like podcasts, Etsy shops, and other digital spaces. No pre-req is required but previous business and intellectual property courses are encouraged. You will be working to understand real world topics taught in traditional courses, and how we then translate complex legal concepts to our clients and the general public. We will also be working with the International Quilt Museum, which is located on the UNL campus to get a hands-on view of arts and crafts, and also doing a workshop for quilters, artists, crafters and general microentrepreneurs both in person and virtually as part of the course. The thesis is simple: whatever your business, the steps in a digital age are the same, and we'll be exploring those in this course.

Notes: This is a survey course.
Description: Provides an overview of the relationship between debtors and creditors outside of bankruptcy under state law. Includes an examination of the Federal Debt Collection Practices Act and of consumer and business bankruptcy law. Specifically, Chapter 7, 11, 12 and 13 proceedings are discussed. Engage in a client counseling exercise designed to evaluate the client’s eligibility for a Chapter 7 proceeding and prepare for electronic filing a Chapter 13 petition for bankruptcy. Prepare a short, client-counseling memorandum for the unit on business bankruptcies related to a motion for relief from the automatic stay. Current policy issues in bankruptcy will be addressed as time permits.

LAW 737 Law of Provider and Patient
Crosslisted with: LAW 737G
Notes: Students may also enroll in LAW 713G Style and Composition in Legal Writing for an additional hour of Law College credit.
Description: Covers a limited but central topic in the larger field of health-care law - the law bearing on the relationship between a health-care provider and a patient. Survey the legal rights and obligations of patients and their health care providers, individual and institutional. Cover qualification as a health care provider (institutional and individual licensure); the legal doctrines relating to the formation of provider-patient relationship; the locus of decisional authority in the relationship; the provider's fiduciary duties to the patient (to deliver care of professionally acceptable quality [including traditional malpractice law], to avoid conflicts of interest, to respect the patient's privacy and to protect the confidentiality of medical information about the patient); the reciprocal obligation of the patient to take reasonable steps to assure payment and to comply with medical directives; and the legal doctrines relating to the termination of provider-patient relationships. Explore the way provider-patient obligations are affected when the patient also becomes the subject of medical or scientific research.

LAW 756 International Cyber Security: Mischief, Crime and Warfare
Crosslisted with: LAW 756G
Notes: This course is available to online LLM students.
Description: Examines international legal issues related to emerging conflicts in cyberspace and explores threats to international cyber security posed by a wide range of hostile cyber acts, from damaging cyber mischief and crime to cyber warfare. The primary focus is on the legal frameworks that may apply to hostile acts in cyber space, including the domestic criminal laws of states, international law, and particularly the law of armed conflict. Compares various forms of cybercrime with state-sponsored efforts to disrupt, deny, degrade or destroy information in computer networks and systems, explores private and governmental roles in cyberspace, and assesses the appropriate legal responses to increasingly diverse state-sponsored military and intelligence operations in cyberspace, including those related to data exploitation, espionage and sabotage.

LAW 761 Trial Advocacy
Crosslisted with: LAW 761G
Prerequisites: LAW 646/G
Description: This is a "learning by doing" skills course where students learn and practice the basic, foundational skills necessary to try a civil or criminal case to a judge or jury. Students analyze case files, prepare for trial and perform each of the various portions of a trial - opening statements, direct examination, cross examination and closing arguments. During the practical application portion of each class, every student performs the skill being taught in the role of an advocate, witness, and opposing counsel. Student weekly performances are videotaped for further review and critiqued by an experienced litigator. The course culminates with a 4-hour simulated trial. The primary goal of the course is to prepare our students to competently conduct a bench or jury trial.

LAW 762R Law & Behavioral Science Seminar
Crosslisted with: LAW 762RG
Description: Actual and potential uses of science in the law. The course primarily focuses on social science but considers general principles that apply to all types of science in the law. Specifically, we will look at the use of social science as fact in litigation (e.g., consumer confusion and civil damages) and as context in litigation (e.g., syndromes and criminal defenses). A secondary objective is to look at how social science can be used to understand the more general function and purpose of the courts and more specifically the application of various legal practices and policies to social problems. Third, the course examines the concept of junk science in the law including the misuse of science in litigation and legislation. Throughout the course, we will consider how empirical research can shed light on matters of importance to the legal system.

LAW 779R Selected Topics in Property and Natural Resources Law Seminar
Crosslisted with: LAW 779RG
Description: Agriculture, Race, and Connections to Place - Explore how our collective choices about property law-and agricultural land tenure more specifically-shape the social and ecological contours of rural landscapes. Students will read and engage with sophisticated, interdisciplinary texts that explore, from numerous perspectives, how agricultural land policies have influenced not only the trajectory of our modern American food system but also helped create many of the challenges facing rural communities. Topics will include the history of U.S. land settlement, the role of local property regulations in global agricultural systems, and the particular property-law experiences of racialized and other marginalized groups in American society.
Other seminar topics may include farmland inheritance, right-to-farm legislation, absentee farmland ownership, farm financialization and concentration, co-ownership and partition reforms, minority land loss, property rights on American Indian trust lands, public grazing rights, issues of access and exclusion specific to farmworkers, and a series of international land reform examples. The seminar will be discussion based and collaborative. No prior agricultural experience or knowledge is required. Students must complete both a final writing and presentation assignment.

LAW 797 Clinical Practice-Debtor Defense
Prerequisites: Law 790 Legal Profession, Law 741 Pretrial Litigation
Description: The Debtor Defense Clinic is a semester-long, three-credit hour clinic in which two third-year students and two second-year students are eligible to participate. Students who have participated in the Clinic as second-year students are eligible to apply to participate as third-year students. The third-year students selected for the Clinic will engage in the types of activities permitted by the Nebraska Supreme Court’s senior practice rule, including appearing in court on behalf of clients if necessary. Second-year students will function as paralegals who operate under the supervision of the supervising faculty member, and will interact with clients, provide general information, work on legal issues, engage in outreach, and otherwise perform case-related tasks that do not require senior standing. The focus of the Clinic is to provide outreach, information, and representation to those involved in debt collection cases. Most of the clients with whom Clinic students will interact have already had judgments entered against them. Students will help such clients navigate their legal options post-judgment. Students may also file Chapter 7 bankruptcies on behalf of clients in appropriate cases, and perform any other activities assigned by the supervising faculty member. There is a weekly classroom component, which focuses on general matters regarding client representation, including motion practice, ethical issues inherent in 2L involvement and in 3L limited scope and extended representation of clients, substantive issues regarding the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act, Nebraska debt collection law, and bankruptcy practice, among others.

Notes: Senior standing only. Preference will be given to students participating in the Litigation Skills Program of Concentrated Study.
Description: Students, under close faculty supervision, represent clients in a variety of civil legal matters, including full-service representation in the areas of estate planning, clean slate relief, and eviction defense. Students may also represent low-income clients in a limited-scope capacity in the areas of family law (divorce, custody, visitation), consumer protection, landlord-tenant, name changes, and other general civil matters. Students may also have the option of leading and/or participating in one of the Clinic’s outreach projects (Project descriptions are available at https://law.unl.edu/civil-clinic-outreach/). In addition, each semester at least five Clinic students will have the opportunity to participate in an Advance Directive Clinic (https://law.unl.edu/civil-clinic-outreach/advance-directive-clinic/), an off-site program where students work with senior citizens in out-state Nebraska in drafting their estate planning documents. In addition to the client and project work, there is a classroom component where student meet several times per week for the first three or four weeks, and then at least weekly thereafter. These class sessions will be scheduled for a day/time that is mutually convenient for students and faculty.
